West One Bathrooms

Design notes

Conceived by Louise Ashdown at West One Bathrooms, this atmospheric space centres around the distinctive 'Vieques' bath, which the home owner had fallen in love with. A reworked layout ensures that the tub becomes the centrepiece, while the chinoiserie wallpaper is the perfect counterpoint to the dark green paint. westonebathrooms.com

HÁM x Waterworks

In the guest cottage at the Devon house of HÁM's Tom Cox, this bathroom is all about comfort: 'I wanted it to be like stepping into a secluded cabin. It is my take on mountain lodge style, which is relaxed and inviting.' The bath surround is in Arabescato Carrara marble to match the countertop on the basin unit. haminteriors.com | waterworks.com

AIYA

Design notes

A palette of forest green, natural stone and warm timber come together to create a serene atmosphere in this bathroom by the Cyprus-based design studio AIYA. The regimented pattern of the herringbone floor is a pleasing contrast to the marble's veining. aiyabureau.com

'Warndon' bath, from Victoria + Albert. For similar wall, worktop and splashback marble, and similar herringbone floor tiles, try Lapicida. For similar paint, try 'Brunswick Green Deep', from Edward Bulmer Natural Paint
